Reading as Active Learning: Faculty Teaching & Research Symposium, February 19, 2014

Additional Resources

Newsletters and Other Publications – General Search

Faculty Focus Newsletter
Higher Ed Teaching Strategies from Magna Publications
Search under “Reading”

The Teaching Professor
Dedicated to the art and science of teaching (Magna Publications)

The Chronicle of Higher Education
http://chronicle.com/section/Home/5
Search the Chronicle

Active Learning in Higher Education (Journal published by Sage Publications)
http://alh.sagepub.com/

Resources from other Centers

University of Minnesota’s Center for Teaching and Learning offers some basic active learning strategies. http://www1.umn.edu/ohr/teachlearn/tutorials/active/strategies/index.html

University of Michigan’s Center for Research on Learning and Teaching provides strategies and sample lesson plans. http://www.crlt.umich.edu/search/node/reading

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill’s Center for Faculty Excellence offers some suggestions for classroom activities. http://cfe.unc.edu/pdfs/FYC2.pdf
Articles

Monographs

